Willie Easton's Corroboration of his mother's second trip into DeRussey's Lane, etc.

In my report of September 24th covering the above subject reference was made to the name of Lloyd Brown as one of the persons who Mr. Johnson thought had overheard the conversation between Willie Easton and himself.

I have interviewed Mr. Brown, who now resides at 135 College Avenue, this City. Mr. Brown informs me that Mr. Johnson was undoubtedly mistaken, as he did not overhear any conversation between Johnson and Willie Easton. In fact, he tells me that he had lived for a long while with the Johnson family but about a year before the murder he had married and moved to his present address.

He also said he and Mr. Carlson, to whom I made reference in my report of September 28th, had talked the matter over and that neither one of them had any recollection of this affair.

Respectfully submitted,

David Thompson
